The Rug License is designed to pull itself out from underneath you when you've been bad. Permission to use, copy, modify, and distribute this work for any purpose is thus granted:

A)without fee except a described in term C; provided that the above copyright notice and this license appear in all copies

B)

C)should you make lots and lots of money doing so, you must offer me a fair (or reasonably close thereto) license fee or royalty; not only because it is the right thing to do, but also because of terms E and D, respectively

D)if your name appears in term B, a fee for your use has come into existence, equal to one half of your net profits from whatever you are doing with the protected work

E)if you breach term C, the moment you do, your name is appended to term B, whether or not this is yet reflected in any particular existing copy or instance of the license, in any form, including this the original

F)where  $A=65$ , odd numbered terms may not change, nor shall even numbered terms except as prescribed in odd numbered terms
